Good and Bad Tidings .- An Editor is often called upon to indite articles that he knows will cause sorrow in many hearts; for instance, some railroad or steamboat disaster is to be announce ed, a fatal accident is to be recorded; then is his heart sad as he thinks of the tears that will be shed as the paragradh he is inditing will be perused. But when he gets an item that will send joy to every heart, the pen glides brickly over the paper. These are our feelings as we to the dead, and health to those who are sick. All kinds of humor are cured through its magic influence from the slightest pimple to the severest case of scrofula. The price is reasonable; it can be obtained everywhere, and there is no occasion for the afflicted to remain
